Almost Family Comments on Senate Finance Committee Inquiry Letter

Company Intends to Comply Fully with Request

Louisville, KY., May 13, 2010 – Almost Family, Inc. (Nasdaq: AFAM), a leading regional provider of home health nursing services, has received an inquiry letter from the U.S. Senate Finance Committee regarding an article in the April 26, 2010 edition of The Wall Street Journal. The Company intends to cooperate fully with the Committee’s request for information related to the Company’s historical home health operations.

William Yarmuth, President and CEO of Almost Family, Inc., said, “We intend to fully cooperate with the Committee’s request for information. Our Senior Advocacy mission calls for our caregivers to provide care based solely on patients’ needs and clinical conditions and we are confident that when our data is thoroughly reviewed, it will provide a much clearer picture than was portrayed in The Wall Street Journal article.”

All statements, other than statements of historical facts, included in this news release, are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements may be identified by the use of forward-looking terminology such as “may,” “will,” “expect,” “believe,” “estimate,” “project,” “anticipate,” “continue,” or similar terms, variations of those terms or the negative of those terms. These forward-looking statements are based on the Company's current plans, expectations and projections about future events.

Because forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties, the Company's actual results could differ materially from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. The potential risks and uncertainties which could cause actual results to differ materially include: regulatory approvals or third party consents may not be obtained, the impact of further changes in healthcare reimbursement systems, including the ultimate outcome of potential changes to Medicare reimbursement for home health services and to Medicaid reimbursement due to state budget shortfalls; the ability of the Company to maintain its level of operating performance and achieve its cost control objectives; changes in our relationships with referral sources; the ability of the Company to integrate acquired operations; government regulation; health care reform; pricing pressures from Medicare, Medicaid and other third-party payers; changes in laws and interpretations of laws relating to the healthcare industry; and the Company's self-insurance risks. For a more complete discussion regarding these and other factors which could affect the Company's financial performance, refer to the Company's various filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including its filing on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009, in particular information under the headings "Special Caution Regarding Forward-Looking Statements" and "Risk Factors." The Company undertakes no obligation to update or revise its forward-looking statements.
